NVISION LASER EYE CENTERS ANNOUNCES CHANGES AT FULLERTON LOCATION

Newport Beach, Calif., December 8, 2010 – Dr. Thomas Tooma of NVISION Laser Eye Centers announced today some significant personnel changes at their Fullerton location.

“We are pleased to announce that Dr. Franklin W. Lusby and Dr. Loren Rude, who were with ClearSight Laser Eye Centers (www.2020clearsight.com) in Newport Beach and Brea since 2008, will now be respectively the Medical Director and Clinical Director of the NVISION Fullerton Center,” said Dr. Tooma, Medical Director of NVISION Laser Eye Centers. “ClearSight’s Brea location will be merged into the NVISION Fullerton Center; and ClearSight Corona del Mar will be incorporated into the Newport Beach NVISION Center.”

Dr. Lusby began specializing in ophthalmology in 1980, and in 1990 he developed a specialty interest in refractive surgery, which rapidly became the main focus of his practice. The majority of his practice is comprised of CustomLASIK with IntraLase®. He has personally performed tens of thousands of LASIK procedures. In 2007, he received the “America’s Top Ophthalmologists” Award.

Before joining ClearSight, Dr. Rude worked as Refractive Surgery Clinical Adjunct Professor at Southern California College of Optometry (SCCO). While at SCCO, his emphasis was in laser vision correction (LASIK) with extensive research and lectures to his credit in the field of refractive surgery. He is a member of American Optometric Association, California Optometric Association and International Society of Refractive Surgery.

On September 1, 2010, Dr. Tooma purchased interest in eight TLC Vision Centers to become a separate LASIK brand. The new brand now operates as NVISION Laser Eye Centers and has the same surgeons, staff and locations in La Jolla, Palm Desert, Ontario, Fullerton, Newport Beach, Laguna Hills, Torrance, and Camarillo.
